Registered Sanitarian Needed

Food Safety International is a private consulting company that conducts routine inspection for a specific client list. We service corporate accounts that go above and beyond the requirement of the law. Our clients are committed to health, education and sanitation. We are a group of professional sanitarians with over 20 years experience, and we are committed to education through our inspection program.

Food Safety International has one full time position open in Houston Texas for that person who is looking to make a difference in the food industry. This person will be a self-motivated registered sanitarian, who is bi-lingual with English and Spanish. You must be able to read and write in Spanish. Excellent pay with flexible hours!
